

THE HERALD STATESMAN

Gannett Westchester Newspapers/Monday, October 16, 1978

Business Beat

BACHE APPOINTS TWO—Stuart Baker and Philip P. Genussa have been named vice presidents for sales at the White Plains branch of Bache Halsey Stuart Shields Inc. A Briarcliff Manor resident, Baker was with Shields Model Roland for 20 years prior to its merger with Bache. Genussa, of Bedford, was a vice president of Robintech before he joined Bache in 1972.

CLEVEPAK ADVANCES STERN—Irving A. Stern has been named director of corporate accounting at Clevepak's headquarters in White Plains. Stern, a Madison, Conn., resident, has served as manager of general accounting since he joined the firm earlier this year.

ACCOUNTANTS, BANKERS TO MEET—John C. Maher, a member of Citibank's economic forecast committee, will present an overview of the economy and changing interest rates at the annual dinner meeting held with bankers and credit grantors by the Westchester chapter, New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants. The meeting will be at the White Plains Hotel on Thursday, with cocktails at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7.

STATE NATIONAL CHOICE—William R. Schulhof, vice president and general manager of the Office Publications, Inc., Stamford, has been elected a member of the State National Bank of Connecticut's international banking board of associate directors. He is a New Canaan resident.

Flower

Yonkers resident Robert J. Flower, president of Robert J. Flower, Ltd., a Yonkers real estate firm, has been appointed adjunct professor of real estate at the United State Military Academy at West Point. This fall he is teaching two graduate courses in a special MBA program, "Real Estate Principles and Theories" and "Real Estate Economics."

